U.S. Government Securities

Mutual fund dividends that include income from securities issued by the U.S. government or other federal agencies (collectively, "U.S. Government Securities") may be exempt from state income taxes. A portion of the ordinary income dividends paid to you by the Weitz Funds may qualify for this pass-through exemption. State law varies as to whether and what percentage of dividend income attributable to U.S. Government Securities is exempt from state income tax. California, Connecticut, and New York require that a mutual fund maintain certain minimum investments in U.S. Government Securities in order for the dividend income derived from these obligations to be exempt from state income tax. The Funds listed above with an asterisk (*) met these requirements for calendar year 2023. Please consult your tax adviser for more information.

Qualified Dividends

The amount eligible for qualified dividend treatment is shown above as a percentage of total ordinary income. This amount is reported to you on your Form 1099-DIV, Box 1b. Qualified dividends are taxed at a maximum federal tax rate of 20%. A shareholder must satisfy a 61-day holding period with respect to any distributions of qualifying dividends in order to obtain the benefit of the lower tax rate. Please consult your tax adviser for more information.

Corporate Dividends Received Deduction

See the Funds Annual Report [This information is relevant only to corporate shareholders and does not apply to non-corporate shareholders.]

Form 1099-DIV

Distributions of less than $10 are not required to be reported on Form 1099-DIV. These amounts are reported to you on your year-end account statement and are required to be included on your income tax return.

Tax-Exempt Interest Dividends

Of the tax-exempt interest dividends reported to you on your Form 1099-DIV, Box 12, 100% is tax-exempt for federal income tax purposes. A portion of these tax-exempt interest dividends may also be exempt from state or local tax, depending on the state and local tax laws that apply where you file your return. For Nebraska residents, 94.22% of the amount reported in Box 12 is exempt from Nebraska income tax. Please consult your tax adviser for more information.

Alternative Minimum Tax

A portion of the tax-exempt interest dividends is from private activity bonds issued after August 7, 1986, and is a tax preference item subject to the Federal Alternative Minimum Tax. Your share of the tax-exempt interest dividends for such bonds is 7.37% of the amount reported on Form 1099-DIV, Box 12. This amount is reported to you on your Form 1099-DIV, Box 13.

Assets by State

State and local governments may require residents to pay intangible or personal property tax on investments. The table above provides the percentage of assets that the Nebraska Tax-Free Income Fund had invested in each state at the end of 2023. Please consult your tax adviser for more information.

Ordinary Interest Dividends

A portion of the total dividends paid by the Nebraska Tax-Free Income Fund is considered taxable for federal and state income tax purposes. This amount is reported to you on your Form 1099-DIV, Box 1a, if applicable.

U.S. Treasury and Government Agency Obligations

Mutual fund dividends that include income from certain U.S. Treasury and Government Agency obligations may be exempt from state income taxes. A portion of the ordinary income dividends paid to you by the Weitz Funds may qualify for this pass-through exemption. State law varies as to whether and what percentage of dividend income attributable to Federal obligations is exempt from state income tax. Please consult your tax adviser for more information.
