How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

The Fund (Ticker: WCPB) returned 3.29% based on NAV and 3.49% based on market price for the period from inception (August 12, 2025) through November 30, 2025.

During the initial ramping up of the portfolio, we leaned heavily on Agency Mortgage-backed securities (MBS), which was the largest contributor to performance for the period. We also focused on U.S. Treasury bonds, the second highest contributor. We also found pockets of value within corporate collateralized loan obligations (CLOs), which was the third highest contributing sector as well as high yield and investment grade corporate bonds rounding out the top five contributors. Over time, we expect to ramp up our credit investments across a wide variety of both benchmark and non-benchmark sectors as opportunities arise and the fund scales its asset base.

How has the Fund performed since inception?

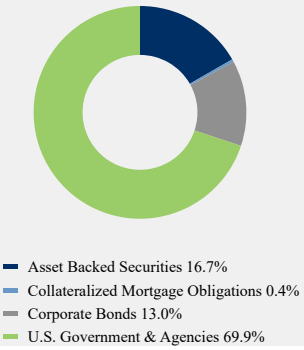

Average Annual Total Returns	Since Inception (August 12, 2025)
Weitz Core Plus Bond ETF - NAV	3.29%
